Dear Sir:

I recently wrote to Dr. L.W. Freeman of Indiana University to inquire about the new Russian drug, karantonin, which is reported to be a help in polio, and he suggested that I write to you as you were in a position to know more about it.

Is it all the Russians claim for it and does it help in post-polio, in a case of seven years standing, such as myself? Would it be available in this country? I have read about it in various newspapers and magazines lately.

Thank you for giving this your kind attention. I know you are very busy. However, I know you realize how important this is<sup>t</sup> to me and the many thousands like me.

Sincerely,
